Twenty-two Horses Have Entered to Start in the Rich Event—It's Any One's Race.

BY FRANCIS TREVELYAN.

HE question who will win the rich Futurity to-day is still an open one. The field There will be a delay at the post-that is almost certain. The youngsfers will

It is more likely that the gelding Chacornac, owned up to to-day by James Rowe, bought for a pretty stiff price by his employer, James R. Keene, will be the favoron account of his work. It is not the first time Mr. Keene has bought a colt from nd if track reports are good for anything every trainer thinks he has a good chance to Chacorane, with McCue up, ought to win. The horse's recent performances have good, but, on the contrary, McCue has been doing some poor riding of late. Harry Lewis will be on Plucky and O'Leary on Knight of Rhodes. Taral will ride Gulden for John E. Madden. Jack Joyner having promised Maher to Rowe before Mr. orillard put David Garrick into his hands, is in a quandary whom to put on David Sarrick. Odom will be on The Scotchman and Clawson on King Bramble

Windmere, in the Bromley stable, is the last to be heard from. He is a full brother to Gotham, a horse who would undoubtedly have been a great racer if he had been given unlimited time, as this colt has. Julius Bauer has been thinking very well of the nances of his filly, Iroquois Belle, in the big event, but Windmere has beaten her with David Garrick, in spite of his lumping impost of 134 pounds, is the fancy of perhaps majority of the trainers. He is going extremely well, and as two-year-olds can give away weight with much greater facility than older horses, there is no reason why his William A. Bracy, manager of "Jim" Jeffries, was a possenger on the White Star liner Britannic, which arrived here impost should stop him. Of course, a great deal depends on whether it proves possible to secure a good lockey for him.

By a Journal Expert at the Track.

HE Sheepshead Bay track is in perfect condition for the Futurity to-day. Thursday's deluge was extremely beneficial, and the course will be fast Charcornac will undoubtedly go to the post the favorite. His six furlongs in 1:15 over a slow track yesterday was highly gratifying to his owner, James Rowe. The fractional times for the trial were: A quarter in 24 seconds; half, 48½; five furlongs, 1:02%, and six furlongs, 1:15. J. R. Keene's eligible, trained by Rowe, who ran with Charcornac, was beaten off several lengths.

Doublet, another Keene entry, was sent six furlongs in 1:17% as his last breezer for the big race. Many fancy Doublet, although he will have to carry next to the top weight—126 pounds. He did not seem to move as easily in the Spring, when he captured the Juvenile Stakes so handly at Morris Park.

Virginia Earle did six furlongs in 1:17%. This was particularly good for the condition of the track. The fractions were: Quarter, 0:24½; half, 0:49; five fur-longs, 1:03¼; six furlongs, 1:17¼. She finished full of running, and looks well enough to be in at the finish in the big race to-day. Jack Joyner's Futurity candidate, David Garrick, was gently trotted and cantered. He has suffered no ill effects from his fast trial in the mad on Thursday. He is in grand condition, but the opinion seems to be general that 134 pounds will anchor him in the rut.

Gulden and Knight of Rhodes were worked together. The trial was over the Futurity course. Gulden got the best of it by half a length, Plucky ran six furlongs with no apparent effort in 1:17.

Gldcon & Daly's Erwin did the same distance half a second slower.

George E. Smith's Prestidigitator covered the six furlongs easily in 1:1916, doing the half-mile in 50 seconds flat. Bromley & Co.'s Iroquois Belle went the same distance in 1:17½, and Eugeve Leigh's King Bramble was sent seven fur longs, which he covered in about 1:32, Modrine also worked seven furlongs, doing it in 1.31%.
